There are two types of surfaces that are traditionally used in Equine areas.

Unsealed Surface:

Rubber fibre and binder is mixed and seamlessly laid on a suitable surface. It is mostly suited to outdoor applications such as breezeways, walkways, or light use roads. It has an open weave and is porous.

Reclaim Industries are a public company with offices in every state. A sales consultant can visit your site to supply you with a no obligation quote. Please feel free to call any of our offices on the numbers below or alternately call the 1800 number and we will take care of it all for you.

Sealed Surface:

Rubber fibre and binder is mixed and seamlessly laid on a suitable surface. Once cured it is then sealed using a mix of fine rubber, binder and oxide. This seals the surface. This application is suited to wet areas such as wash down bays, stable floors or floats. It is non porous. Reclaim manufacture their own rubber crumb which goes exclusively into their Equine surfaces and pride themselves in producing a consistent quality crumb made especially for the Equine industry.
